

Ontario Association of Chiefs of Police

presents the

“Traffic Safety Initiative of the Year Award”

Sponsored by the CAA South Central Ontario

“Traffic crimes cost society more, devastate more Ontario families and inflict more physical insult than all other crimes combined.”

Every year in Ontario, concerned and motivated police officers implement numerous traffic safety initiatives on behalf of their respective agencies designed with the intent of reducing the incidence of death and serious injury attributed to motor vehicle collisions on the province’s highways. Many of these programs prove to be extremely effective, show great creativity and involve innovative solutions. They also prove to our communities the level of commitment that Ontario’s police services have towards traffic safety concerns.

Awarded annually by the Ontario Association of Chiefs of Police and sponsored by the CAA South Central Ontario, the “Traffic Safety Initiative of the Year Award” will be presented to the police organization that creates, develops and implements Ontario’s most successful traffic safety program.

The OACP Awards will be handed out on Monday, June 15, 2020 at the Queen’s Landing in Niagara-on-the-Lake.

The “Nomination Report”:

This report should detail the initiative from its inception, through its development, design and implementation stages, and conclude by documenting its’ impact on community safety. Statistical data that supports the necessity for such an initiative as well as data that clearly prove a measurable success should be reported. The nomination should also address whether the project is a one-time initiative or is a sustainable, ongoing program that may enjoy success for years to come. Many successful traffic safety initiatives combine traffic enforcement activities with a public information and education component. How these activities were combined should also be discussed in the nomination report. Awards received and other types of official recognition directed to the initiative should be discussed.

Please ensure that your nomination report/form addresses the following:

1. Identification/Analysis of a Traffic Safety Concern

How did this issue first come to the forefront? What techniques were used to determine the scope of the problem? Has this been a persistent concern or has it developed just recently? Submissions will be judged on the insight shown by the involved officer(s) in identifying a specific traffic safety issue as well as the method in which the officer(s) has sought to alleviate the public’s concern.

2. Innovative Approach

What activities were considered to address the concern? Is this initiative a common enforcement/education tool? Has this project developed a new solution to a common problem? Submissions should address all aspects of the initiative which were unique either to the traffic safety concern being addressed or to the community or agency involved.

3. Impact Upon Community Safety and Satisfaction

Has there been a measurable or perceived improvement in the situation as a result of the initiative? Has the community embraced and supported the initiative? What is the extent of the impact of this initiative on highway safety? Can the impact of this initiative be sustained over time? Submissions should clearly detail a significant impact on the community's traffic safety concerns resulting from the implementation of this initiative. The judges will carefully consider the impact upon the nominating agency's particular community when assessing the initiative's impact.

4. Effectiveness in Combining Various Activities

Does the initiative effectively combine different activities commonly associated with successful traffic safety programs such as enforcement, awareness and education? Submissions will be judged on the methods used in the initiative to address each of these fundamental areas.

5. Overall Quality of the Submission

The submission should be clear, concise, and follow a logical path outlining the initiative in its entirety. Consideration will also be given to the impression left with the reviewing panel regarding the initiative's successes.
